Three foundation models trace nearly coincident paths over the week's largest image burst