Context tokens scale with image count — the vision payload is already inside the prompt